GENERAL NOTICE

MFA students are advised that academic and other matters referred to in the MFA Handbook are subject to continuing review and revision, and may change during a student’s program of study. The MFA Handbook is intended to provide guidance, and is not a guarantee that a particular course, facility or service will be available in a particular semester or year. Additionally, the Handbook is not an all-inclusive set of rules and regulations, but provides general information and guidance regarding MFA students’ relationship to NSCAD University. Comprehensive policies, rules and regulations are contained in the NSCAD University Academic Calendar ~ Guide to Undergraduate and Graduate Programs and in additional publications that are available from the Office of Student and Academic Services. This MFA Handbook describes and explains the policies and procedures pertaining to the MFA Program in Fine and Media Art, and Craft. Published annually by the Director of the MFA Program and the MFA Committee, it is subject to revision. MFA students are advised to check the website (www.nscad.ca) and to read the NSCAD University Calendar. For more information about the university, its programs, policies and timetables, refer to this website.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION: MASTER OF FINE ARTS IN STUDIO

The Master of Fine Arts degree is internationally recognized as a standard qualification required for teaching craft and visual arts at post-secondary educational institutions such as colleges and universities. The NSCAD MFA Program provides students with the opportunity to develop their work in a context of intense critical discussion. Pedagogy, Research/Creation and other integral academic courses enhance the studio focus. Students are selected for their capability as artists and craftspersons, their critical abilities, and the personal qualities and interests that might contribute to their success as teachers and scholars.

The MFA degree is awarded after successful completion of full-time course work over a 20-to-24-month period, beginning in the Fall semester. Other requirements include four reviews by committee, a Thesis Exhibition and a Thesis Statement. The Master of Fine Arts program is discipline-based or interdisciplinary, depending on research needs. Applicants normally have in-depth training and experience in ceramics, jewellery/metalworking, textiles/fashion, drawing, sound, video, digital media, drawing, film, installation, painting, performance, photography, printmaking, or sculpture.
Financial Information

2018-19 Awards and Scholarships

Most scholarships available to MFAs are entrance awards. No separate application is required; applicants accepted to the program are reviewed as part of the admissions process:

- NSCAD MFA Scholarship: Each MFA student accepted into the Program is awarded a $3000 scholarship. ($750 at the beginning of each of four semesters of full-time continuous enrolment in which the student remains in good standing)

Donor Awards:

- Roloff Beny Foundation Graduate Scholarship: an entrance scholarship to be awarded to a Fine and Media Arts MFA student with a concentration in Photography ($5000)
- Laurel Woodcock Graduate Entrance Scholarship: supports an entering MFA student ($1000)
- Joan DeWolfe Memorial Scholarship: assists two entering MFA students in any medium. Recipients of this award must demonstrate academic excellence and high level of artistic achievement. (Five awards, $2000 each)
- Kenny Doren Graduate Entrance Scholarship: supports an entering MFA student ($1000)
- Robert Pope Foundation Scholarship: assists entering Fine or Media Arts MFA students. Recipients of this award must demonstrate academic excellence and high level of artistic achievement. (Two awards, $2000 each)

Information and application forms for in-program scholarships, bursaries, travel assistance and emergency loans can be obtained in the Office of Student and Academic Services (OSAS). Amounts and availability may change; check with OSAS.

- The Joseph Beuys Memorial Scholarships: a minimum of two awards to Canadian MFA and MDes students. Application is made in the winter semester through OSAS. ($1500)

Teaching / Research Assistantship Stipends

Each MFA student is awarded a $2,500 Teaching Assistantship per semester for four semesters in full-time residence in the Program. Teaching Assistants work an average of ten hours per week. On occasion, a Research Assistantship (RA) may be awarded instead. For more information see the section Teaching / Research Assistantships (p. 12) and the Policy on Graduate Teaching/ Research Assistants. (p. 26)

NOTE: Each year, MFA students with teaching assistantships must complete and submit the Payroll Authorization for Tuition Deduction form relevant to the assistantship. Appendix, p. 32.
Other Financial Assistance

MFA students may apply for Travel Assistance Funds to support individual and group trips related to research or professional activities. Please note that applications for assistance must be submitted in September for the fall semester, and in January for the winter semester. The Academic Resources Committee assesses applications.

MFA students are eligible to apply for Emergency Loans and Materials Grants through the Office of Student and Academic Services. Contact OSAS for further information.

RA Opportunities in the Drawing Lab

The Drawing Lab, located at NSCAD’s Academy Campus, is an SSHRC-funded collaboration between researchers at NSCAD and Dalhousie University. The research being conducted at The Drawing Lab seeks to determine whether the notion of the 'good eye' is more than a metaphor. The methodology employed involves quantifying, mapping and comparing patterns of eye-movement in subjects who are drawing directly from observation.

Beginning in August 2015, The Drawing Lab has employed 1 to 2 MFA students as Research Assistants for roughly 5 to 10 hours per week, based on their interests, abilities and other time commitments. Rate of pay is anticipated to begin at $18.00/hour. Research Assistantships may involve testing and/or tutoring in drawing. If you are interested in exploring this opportunity, contact Mathew Reichertz (mreichertz@nscad.ca) or Bryan Maycock (bmaycock@nscad.ca).

Tuition Payment

The MFA Scholarships ($3000) are disbursed in each year of the program in two installments of $750 each, at the beginning of September and January. The Office of Student and Academic Services credits these funds to tuition fees. The balance of tuition must be paid in full during the mail-in or in-person registration dates (listed in the current time-table of classes). Please note: failure to formalize registration (including tuition fee payments) will delay the disbursement of the MFA Scholarship.

Graduate Teaching and Research Assistantships are paid to students through the University’s payroll and are normally credited to tuition balance. The balance of tuition must be paid in full during the mail-in or in-person registration by the dates specified. Failure to do so may result in your name being removed from class lists.

See Authorization for Tuition Deduction form, p. 32. Contact Maria Stein, Payroll Specialist in the Office of Finance (mstein@nscad.ca, 902 494-8116) to make arrangements for your preferred method of paying tuition.

All MFA students are required to have a Canadian Social Insurance Number (SIN).

Tuition Schedule

Students make two half-year tuition payments to cover full-time enrolment (9-15 credits) in the regular fall and winter semesters. Students who qualify for NS residency may be eligible for reduced tuition. Students from elsewhere in Canada may also have a smaller reduction in tuition. Please contact the Office of Finance and Administration or the OSAS. Check with the Finance Office regarding tuition for international students.

Summer: No graduate-level courses are offered in summer, though MFA students may arrange to take 3500-level and higher LAS courses for graduate credit or a 6000-level Independent Research, if a faculty advisor is available. MFA students are also free to take undergraduate studio courses over the summer semester, though these do not count towards the MFA degree. Normal tuition fees apply.
PROGRAM STRUCTURE AND DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Over a 20-to-24-month period, an MFA student accumulates 42 required credits towards the MFA degree, taking a minimum of 9 graduate credits and a maximum of 15 graduate credits each fall and winter semester. MFA students are considered to have full-time status, and pay gradations of full-time tuition, per graduate credit. Students normally register for at least 12 credits each semester in the first year to ensure that the LAS requirements are met. Students may not take more than 30 credits each academic year.

Note on Workload: For undergraduates at NSCAD University, each credit taken signifies three hours of work per week, including contact hours with the instructor and hours of work outside of class. MFA students should expect to work beyond this three-hour-per-credit guideline.

THE REQUIRED COURSES

MFAR 6003/6006/6009/6012  Graduate Studio
[30 credits required in total: 3, 6, 9 or 12 credits per semester]
The course Graduate Studio is taken each semester and is the principal area of research and practice in Fine and Media Arts, and Craft. This course requires graduate-level research and creative production under the guidance of a Studio Advisor, selected by the student. (See Selecting a Studio Advisor, p.13) Each semester MFA students, in consultation with their Program Advisor, will register for between 3 and 12 credits in Graduate Studio with a Studio Advisor. In Graduate Studio, students produce work towards their Thesis Exhibition requirement for the MFA Degree.
The course is graded Pass or NC (no credit). Receiving a grade of NC for the course may result in losing “good standing” status in the MFA Program (See Definition of Good Standing, p. ).

MFAR 6100  Pedagogy Seminar [3 credits, required LAS]
This seminar introduces students to issues related to teaching and research in the university environment.

MFAR 62XX [topic] Graduate Seminar [3 credits, required LAS]
This course engages critical issues in contemporary art and craft research and practice. It is conducted as a graduate level course, and requires extensive reading on selected topics, student presentations, and a research paper. Topics change each year; repeatable.

MFAR 6600  MFA Research/Creation [3 credits, required LAS]
This course enables MFA students to design their programs of research, develop research journals, and produce early drafts of their Thesis Statement. It is taken in the second semester of study. This course is intended to provide MFA students the opportunity to research a topic that is central to their studio practice.

MFAR 6501  Graduate Forum [0 credits, required]
This course enables graduate students in various disciplines to engage in critical discussion of their own and others’ work. Enrolment in this non-credit course is required in each semester of full-time study in the MFA Program. Attendance, participation, and the presentation of one’s work in Forum meetings open to the College community are required. The primary goal of the Forum is to provide an opportunity for interdisciplinary exchange. The graduate students, in consultation with the Director of the MFA Program, develop the content of the Forum. Visitors’ presentations, film screenings and discussions on topics of general interest may be scheduled.

Optional Credits
MFA Students may take optional credits, at any undergraduate level, beyond the 42 required for the MFA degree in fall, winter or summer semesters. Undergraduate fees per credit apply.
Optional credits do not count towards the MFA degree, but may be used to develop new interests or skills that augment, expand or focus studio or research practice. You may decide to take a workshop in a medium that is new to you, deepen skills you already have, or take a special topic lecture or seminar class. Any undergraduate course may be taken for optional credit, sometimes requiring the agreement of the instructor if prerequisites need to be waived.
Graduate Level Liberal Arts and Science credits [12 credits total]

Note: In graduate-level LAS courses, a minimum grade of “B+” must be achieved.

A minimum of 12 credits of graduate-level liberal arts and science (“LAS” or “L”) coursework is integral to the MFA Program at NSCAD University.

Of the 12 LAS credits, 9 are earned in these required courses, normally completed in the first year:

- MFAR 6100 Pedagogy Seminar (3 credits)
- MFAR 62XX Graduate Seminar: Topic (3 credits)
- MFA Research/Creation MFAR 6600 (3 credits, offered in first winter semester)

The remaining 3 LAS credits may be earned in the following ways:

- Graduate Seminar MFAR 62XX (a second topic, usually in the fall of the second year)
- Independent Research in Art History (AHIS 6700)
  This course will allow a student the opportunity to undertake an independent research project under the guidance of an art history faculty member.
- Independent Research in Contemporary Culture (CULT 6110)
  This course will allow a student the opportunity to undertake an independent research project in Critical Studies under the supervision of a faculty member.
- Independent Research in Film History, Theory and Criticism (FHIS 6200)
  This course enables a student to undertake a research project in the history, theory and/or criticism of film under the guidance of a film history faculty member.

*MFA students who have successfully completed one graduate level academic course at NSCAD may apply for Graduate Independent Research. The supervision of Independent Research is to be undertaken by a full-time or regular part-time member of faculty whose research and teaching show evidence of current involvement in a relevant academic field. Please see the Application for Graduate Independent Research, p. 33. Consult with the Director of the MFA Program.

See Graduate Independent Research courses, p. 27 and Application for Graduate Independent Research, p. 33. Consult with the Director of the MFA Program.

An approved undergraduate or Graduate-level academic course offered at another local university

MFA students enrolling in a course at another institution must comply with the regulations, tuition rates and deadlines of that institution and will be subject to any penalties the University incurs on their behalf. Courses at an outside institution are not included in NSCAD tuition. Students pay course tuition fees directly to the outside institution.

See the Application to Enroll in a Course at an Outside Institution, p.34, and the Application for Graduate Independent Research, p. 33. Consult with the Director of the MFA Program.

The MFA student must keep the NSCAD Registrar informed of their status at an outside institution.
Registration Process

Following acceptance, all entering (Y1) MFAs are automatically registered for a standard credit load for the first two semesters.

Y2 MFAs self-register using Webadvisor. See Priority Access to Courses, below.

For subsequent changes to registration, the Director of the MFA Program signs approval of Add/Drop forms. Use this form to drop Graduate Studio TBA and add Graduate Studio with your selected Studio Advisor. The signature of a Studio Advisor is required.

Priority Access to NSCAD Courses

The registration process at NSCAD links different priority groups to published registration dates. MFA students are always listed in the first priority registration group, meaning that they have priority access for all courses offered at NSCAD University, including courses that are in high demand from undergraduate students, provided they complete the registration process within the period linked to their priority group. Please check with Office of Student Experience regarding dates.

Enrolment is not ensured if the MFA Student does not complete registration and financial arrangements by the dates published in the Calendar of Dates section of the website. http://nscad.ca/en/home/studentresources/calendarsdates.aspx

MFA students should enroll only for courses to which they are committed, as enrolment and subsequent withdrawal from courses adversely affects the ability of other students to enrol in those courses.

English and Writing Proficiency

MFA students whose first language is not English are strongly encouraged to enroll in English language training courses outside NSCAD University, concurrent with their MFA studies. http://nscad.ca/en/home/studentresources/internationalstudents.aspx

English Tutor

Students at NSCAD University, including MFA students, may arrange for assistance with written work. See the Administrative Assistant in Art History and Critical Studies to make an appointment with a tutor. See: http://nscad.ca/en/home/studentresources/writingcentre.aspx or email Jane Milton: jmilton@nscad.ca.
Teaching / Research Assistantships

Teaching and Research Assistantships are not a requirement of the MFA degree. However, most MFA students are interested to gain teaching and research experience, and the main form of financial support is through non-competitive TA/RA stipends offered in each semester of the Program.

Full-time and regular part-time faculty members make written requests for TAs and RAs to their Division Chair, who prioritizes and submits them to the Director of the MFA Program. TA/RA assignments are made by the Director, in consultation with the VP Academic and Division Chairs, and are prioritized on the basis of the needs of various areas of the University. The Foundation Program requires many teaching assistants; MFA students can expect to be assigned to at least one course in Foundation.

For details of the duties and obligations of Graduate Teaching and Research Assistants and of their Supervising Faculty, see Policy on Graduate Teaching Assistants and Graduate Research Assistants, p. 26.

Proposing a Workshop Course

As part of the course work for the required MFAR 6100 Pedagogy Seminar, MFA students design an undergraduate course in their area of research. With the support and supervision of a faculty member in the area, they may request to teach this course, in lieu of a regular teaching assistantship, during their third or fourth semester in the Program.

Courses that MFA students may apply to teach (in place of a Teaching Assistantship):

- ARTS 3130 Studio Workshop: Topic [3 cr, S]
- CRFT 3150 Craft Studio: Topic [3 cr, S]

Timeline for Proposals to Teach a Workshop Course

Mid-October 2016: Chairs of Fine and Media Arts and Craft attend the Pedagogy Seminar to consult with students on course material that may fit with student interest, program offerings and available space, facilities and technical support.

Late November 2016: The Application to Teach a Workshop Course (p. 32) is completed by the MFA student and approved by a Faculty member, who agrees to supervise the course (the Course Supervisor). The Course Supervisor submits the application to the Chair of the Division in which the course is to be offered. It is understood that the development of course content and structure will continue throughout the fall semester and beyond. At this date, what the Supervisor and the Division Chair require is a clear course description and a preliminary week-by-week outline. Course proposals must include prerequisites, material fees, and class limits (see course proposal form).

December/January 2016: Chairs and MFA Director meet with VP Academic, to discuss viable offerings by area.

Late January 2017: Student to be notified of the VP Academic’s decision to list/not list the course in the schedule of classes for Fall 2018 / Winter 2019.

Actual deadlines will be announced in the Pedagogy class, and more details may be found in the form Application to Teach a Workshop Course, p. 32.

Opportunities to teach workshop courses are limited. Proposals are evaluated in relation to regular course offerings, technical support and space requirements by the appropriate Division Chair and the VP Academic. NSCAD University reserves the right to cancel any course if enrolment is insufficient. In that case, the MFA student will be re-assigned to assist in another class (or classes).

MFA students are not permitted to register for any course taught by another MFA student.
Role and Responsibilities of the Course Supervisor

The role of the Course Supervisor is to supervise you in the planning and delivery of your course, to support the development of your teaching skills and to provide you with feedback. The Course Supervisor reviews your preliminary course outline, signs approval on the application agreeing to supervise the course, and submits the application to the Division Chair by the Division deadline.

If your course is offered and receives sufficient enrolment, your Course Supervisor will meet with you as mutually agreed, schedule two visits to observe the class and write an evaluation of your work at the conclusion of the semester. Your final course outline is to be submitted to your Course Supervisor and to the office of the VP Academic at least two weeks prior to the start of the semester.

If it is necessary for you to miss a class, you are expected to make alternative arrangements in consultation with the Chair of the Division in which your course is offered.

Advisory Roles for Faculty

- The Program Advisor is normally a full-time faculty member in the Fine Arts, Craft, or Media Arts Division.
- Studio Advisors for the course Graduate Studio are normally Full-time, Full-time Pro-rated faculty or approved Regular Part-time Faculty members or research fellows in the Fine Art, Media Arts, or Craft Divisions. See the current list on p. 29.

Selecting a Studio Advisor

Each semester, MFA students select a Studio Advisor with whom to work in the course Graduate Studio.

See the list of Current Graduate Faculty, p. 29.

MFA students arrange to meet with potential Studio Advisors to discuss the possibilities of working together. You need not commit to working with the first person you contact: faculty members are accustomed to the consultation process and may, in fact, recommend other suitable people.

When meeting with a potential Studio Advisor, be prepared to discuss your immediate priorities for studio work and to show recent work or documentation of work.

Students should ask faculty questions about how they work with their Studio students, the frequency of group and individual contact, and get a sense of what the faculty member has to offer. MFA students should be frank and clear about their needs, interests and goals. Remember that the decision to work together is reached by mutual consent. MFA students and their Studio Advisors meet on average for at least one hour each week.

Selecting a Program Advisor

Each MFA selects a Program Advisor by late November of their first semester, in time for their First-Semester Review.

When selecting a Program Advisor, MFA students may consider asking a faculty member with whom they are working in Studio or as a Teaching Assistant, or another member of the faculty. As with Studio Advisors, the decision to work together is arrived at by mutual agreement.

Any full-time faculty member who is resident at NSCAD University during the student’s two-year program of study may be a Program Advisor.

The student may change their Program Advisor in consultation with the MFA Director and the Chair of the Division. The student must present legitimate reasons for the change.
Interim Program Advisor

Through the first weeks of the program, the Director of the MFA Program may act as Interim Program Advisor and is available to assist Y1 MFAs in their selection of a Program Advisor.

The Role and Responsibilities of the Program Advisor

The Program Advisor will . . .

- act as the MFA student’s advocate in the MFA Program
- be familiar with the NSCAD University Calendar: Guide to Graduate Programs (and course descriptions), the MFA Handbook, and other relevant documents.
- help direct the MFA student towards a balance of courses that meets the requirements of the MFA degree and the needs and interests of the student
- help direct the MFA student towards suitable faculty members who may work with the student (Studio Advisors, advisory Faculty in Teaching and/or Research, Thesis Committee members)
- be available to consult with the student in planning the presentation of work for Thesis Committee Reviews
- chair all four Thesis Committee Reviews, and write and distribute summaries for the First-Year Review and Thesis Review
- consult on drafts of the Thesis Statement
- be available to review research journal writing and drafts of the Thesis Statement.
- oversee required revisions to the Thesis Statement as required by the Committee in the Thesis Review.
- consult with the student and the MFA Director on other academic matters, as required.

Organizing your Thesis Committee

The MFA student is responsible for forming their Thesis Committee in consultation with the Program Advisor, who will Chair the committee.

Faculty members chosen for your Committee must be approved, Full-time or Regular Part-time faculty. See the current List of Current Graduate Faculty, p. 29.

At least two weeks before the First-semester Review is to take place, the student will send the names of their Committee members to the Director of the MFA Program.

At any time, you may request to replace a member of your Thesis Committee by consulting with your Program Advisor and the Director of the MFA Program.
REVIEWS: CONSTITUTION AND MEMBERSHIP

Thesis Committee

- The Program Advisor (Thesis Committee Chair)
- Two full-time or Regular Part-time Faculty Members selected by the student
- Optional External Member

*At least six weeks before a Review meeting, an MFA student may apply to the Director of the MFA Program for an External Member.

An External Member is meant to provide a specialized or other significant context for discussion of the student’s work. They may be, for instance: a recognized professional artist, craftsman or writer in the community, an active member of a relevant community of cultural heritage, a faculty member at another, local university who has special knowledge of the MFA student’s area of practice, a curator or critic.

Application for approval of an External Thesis Committee Member consists of

- a short, written statement of request
- approval of the request by the Program Advisor
- the curriculum vitae of the proposed External Member.

In your contact with potential External Members, please advise them that there is no remuneration for service on an MFA Thesis Committee.

REVIEWS EXPLAINED

THE FIRST- AND THIRD-SEMESTER REVIEWS

In these informal reviews organized by the student at the end of the first and third semesters, the MFA Student meets with their Thesis Committee to consider and discuss their ongoing studio work, their progress in the Program, and possible directions for study and frameworks for research. No written reports are required, unless to advise the Director of MFA Program of difficulties.

THE FIRST-YEAR REVIEW | Advancement to Candidacy

The First-Year Review requires the MFA student to present work to their Thesis Committee in order to continue in the program by advancing to candidacy for the MFA degree. This is a formal review of any concerns or issues that have arisen over the year. At this time, the committee members discuss each student’s progress and communicate any concerns relating to his or her good standing in the MFA Program.

The First-Year Review is the official channel for recording progress and/or problems. The student organizes a selection of work, usually in their studio. The Committee reflects on this work in relation to the student’s written summary of progress (1 to 2 pages, see below) and the most recent draft of the Thesis Statement, as produced in the course Research/Creation.
The meeting usually takes place in the MFA student’s studio. The Thesis Committee considers studio work the student has been involved with to date in the program and discusses future research plans. The student may exercise much or little control over the discussion. In advance of the meeting, the student and Program Advisor discuss and agree on a way of proceeding.

Following a discussion of the work, the summary of progress and the draft Thesis Statement, the committee may formulate specific recommendations as to future studio and course work, including study with specific faculty. Finally, the Committee votes on the student’s Advancement to Candidacy.

Responsibilities of the MFA Student

The MFA student organizes the First-Year Review with their Thesis Committee during the second semester in the program. In order to plan adequately, the date of this meeting should be established as soon as possible in the second semester. The easiest way to get faculty with diverse schedules to agree on a meeting time is to initiate a Doodle poll (http://doodle.com). The poll should offer an array of options for meeting times on a number of days.

It is not unusual for a First-Year Review to take place after the end of the Winter semester, but it is preferable to find a time before the end of the semester, since Faculty often make commitments to be away when they are not teaching.

At the First-Year Review meeting, the MFA student presents studio work undertaken since beginning the program—both completed work and work in progress.

One week prior to the Review meeting, the student prepares and circulates to their committee members:

1. A short summary of their progress in the Program (1 to 2 pages), including completed academic course work and teaching assistantships. The student should discuss issues and ideas that have arisen in each of these contexts. Plans for future work may also be discussed.

2. The most recent draft of the Thesis Statement, as produced in the course Research/Creation

Responsibilities of the Program Advisor in the First-year Review

The Program Advisor will ensure credit requirements have been met, help organize the review process with the student, chair the First-Year Review, take detailed notes on the discussion during the meeting to be compiled in a summary, and send copies of the summary to the Director of the MFA Program and the MFA student.

Evaluation and Outcome of the First-year Review

If all course work and studio research to date is evaluated positively, the Thesis Committee votes to advance the MFA student to candidacy for the degree. The committee may make specific recommendations to help advance the student’s research.

If the student is not successful in the First-Year Review, they are not advanced to candidacy for the degree and are not in good standing in the MFA Program. See Definition of Good Standing, p. 29.

In cases where academic probation or suspension is recommended, the review summary is also sent to the Academic Council Subcommittee to Review Student Grades.

If a student is suspended, they must apply for re-admission by way of the normal application procedure and deadlines.
THE THESIS REVIEW | THESIS EXHIBITION | THESIS STATEMENT

The Thesis Review takes place in the MFA student’s second year, usually before the end of the second winter semester, in conjunction with their Thesis Exhibition at the Anna Leonowens Gallery or at a venue approved by the Program Advisor and the Director of the MFA Program.

Thesis Exhibition

The schedule of MFA exhibitions is organized by the Director of the Anna Leonowens Gallery, in consultation with all graduating MFA students. This consultation takes place in the fall of the student’s second year. If an alternative venue is planned, the student should provide details at that time.

Upon confirming the date of their final exhibition, the MFA student immediately establishes a Thesis Review date and time and informs their committee members, the Director of the MFA Program, and the Gallery staff. Discussion and planning for the Thesis Exhibition often takes place between the MFA student and their current Studio Advisor, but the student should also make sure to involve their Program Advisor in this process at regular intervals.

A minimum of two hours is required for the Thesis Review. The Gallery staff prefers that Thesis Reviews take place in the morning, outside of gallery open hours.

Thesis Statement

The Thesis Statement consists of a thorough and articulate written discussion of the work presented in the Thesis Exhibition and of topics and information (autobiographical, conceptual, historical, critical, theoretical, and technical), which help to position the work within a broader context. In considering the Thesis Statement, each student is required to search, confront, examine, question and reflect on the larger scope of their studio research and on the particular work chosen to present in the Thesis Exhibition.

The Thesis Statement should be a minimum of 3500 words. The Statement must demonstrate to the Thesis Committee original research and a professional level of production in a suitable academic format (See examples in the Library) or in an alternative format that has been approved in advance by the student’s Program Advisor.

Timeline notes:

One month prior to the Thesis Review, the student submits a close-to-final draft of the Thesis Statement to their Program Advisor, who may suggest revisions.

Two weeks before the Thesis Review, the student provides members of their Thesis Committee with the final draft of the Thesis Statement. Do not print expensive copies; this is still a draft.

Gallery staff may request that a copy of the final draft Thesis Statement be made available to gallery visitors. (Note: The Thesis Statement is separate and distinct in its form, length and goals from the short exhibition statement required for press release by the Anna Leonowens Gallery.)
Thesis Review: Process

The duration of the Thesis Review is approximately two hours.

The student’s Program Advisor chairs the Thesis Review and retains a vote. At the beginning of the Review, the participants will agree on procedures regarding the order of questioning and other particulars of the review procedure.

The Program Advisor/Chair keeps notes on the discussion that they will later summarize in a report to the student and the MFA Director.

The main portion of the Review is given over to rounds of questions from members of the Thesis Committee to the MFA student on the Thesis Exhibition and Thesis Statement. (90 minutes)

When this part of the Review is completed to mutual satisfaction, the MFA student is excused from the room while the Committee considers any remaining questions and evaluates whether the Final MFA Exhibition, the Thesis Statement and the student’s discussion and defense of these in the Review have satisfied the Thesis Requirement for the MFA Degree.

After the Committee votes on the fulfillment of the Thesis Requirement, the student is invited to rejoin the meeting to participate in a summary discussion.

Evaluation and Outcome

The Committee may vote to:

- accept that the Thesis Requirement has been met for the MFA degree;
- accept that the Thesis Requirement has been met, with suggested revisions;
- not accept that the Thesis Requirement has been met.

A student must pass the Review by majority vote.

Within two weeks, and referring to their notes from the Review, the Program Advisor will write a summary of the Review. The draft summary will be sent to the Committee members for approval. The final summary will be sent to the MFA Director and the student.

Within two weeks the Program Advisor will meet with the student to advise on any required revisions to the Thesis Statement.

In order to graduate in April, Thesis revisions must be made and approved before the deadline to submit grades for graduating students. This date will be published in the Academic Calendar of Dates for the winter semester (http://nscad.ca/en/home/studentresources/calendarsdates.aspx). MFA students planning to graduate at the end of the second year are advised to plan their final review dates accordingly. Please check well in advance with the MFA Director and the Registrar, to be certain you will have met all requirements.

A student may not graduate until the thesis has been accepted and the bound copies or proof of printing have been submitted. Substantial required revisions may necessitate a postponement of graduation.
Post-Review Process

- The Program Advisor / Thesis Committee Chair meets with the student to oversee revisions to the Thesis Statement as required by the Review Committee in the Thesis Review. Do not print and bind the two copies for final submission until your Thesis Advisor has approved the revisions.

- Prior to graduation, the MFA student is required to submit two bound copies of the approved Thesis Statement to the Director of the MFA Program (one copy is archived in the NSCAD University library; one is kept in the Director’s office), and a PDF file copy to be used for digital and online archiving.

- The staff of the Anna Leonowens Gallery will arrange digital and slide documentation of the Final MFA Exhibition. One copy of the slide set will be filed with the Non-Print Collection of the Library; a second copy will be given to the MFA student.

- The Director of the MFA Program will inform the Registrar in writing when the Thesis requirement is met and copies of the Thesis Statement have been received.

- The expense of copying and binding First-Year Reviews, Theses, and Thesis Statements is the responsibility of the MFA student.

- The MFA student will provide a digital copy of the thesis to the Library for inclusion in NSCAD University’s institutional repository where it will be made publicly available. The MFA student will sign an agreement provided by the Library if they wish to give permission for their thesis to be included in the repository. The MFA student is responsible for ensuring that the content of their thesis statement is in compliance with Canadian copyright law. The digital copy of the MFA student’s thesis including accompanying images and media files must be in standard file formats that do not require proprietary software to access them.

- The NSCAD University Library will request that the printed thesis is in a format that is a standard size, bound so that it can be stored and labeled. The University name must be noted as well as the year the degree was granted. An example of a Thesis Title Page is given in the Appendix to this Handbook.

Note: MFA students are expected to become familiar with their responsibilities in the Program by reading the entire MFA Handbook, and to read the sections of NSCAD University’s Academic Calendar outlining Graduate Programs, Course Descriptions, Policies and Regulations.

The most current version of the Academic Calendar is found on the NSCAD University website, which is the authoritative published source for any official documents and descriptions of requirements, procedures and policies that may not be covered in this Handbook.
GENERAL INFORMATION

Special Leave
A Special Leave from the MFA Program may be granted for professional or personal reasons. Requests for special leave are normally made in the semester before the intended period of absence to the Director of the MFA Program who will consult with relevant Faculty members and with the VP Academic and Research before final approval.

Application to Graduate
It is the MFA student’s responsibility to apply to graduate within the appropriate timeframe. An application must be submitted to the Registrar by the dates stipulated in the Academic Calendar. See:

http://nscad.ca/site-nscad/media/nscad/apptograduate.pdf

Residency and Extensions
The MFA Program is to be completed within a 20- to 24-month period. Extensions may be granted in some circumstances.

All students in the MFA Program who have not completed their requirements for the MFA degree within the residency period, and who wish to complete their degree, must apply for an extension and must pay an activation fee per semester for each fall and winter semester until they complete the requirements.

Extensions must be applied for in writing to the Chair of the student’s Advisory Committee and the MFA Committee. This letter of application must state the reason for an extension, and must be accompanied with a letter of support from the Program Advisor outlining the terms of the extension and the schedule of meetings with the Program Advisor. If granted activation status, the student is allowed limited entitlements. These entitlements include the use of the library and meetings with the Program Advisor as outlined in the letter of support. The student is not permitted to occupy a studio space or an office.

Students should be aware that extensions are not automatically provided; in fact, they are discouraged.

Limitations to this extension are as follows:
Students earning the MFA degree in Fine and Media Arts, or the MFA degree in Craft, must complete the Graduate Studio requirement, and the exhibition component of their degree within the 20-month period. All MFA students must complete the degree within five years, or ten fall and winter semesters, from first registration.

If an MFA student fails to apply for an extension and for activation status after the 24-month period, and has not completed the MFA degree, the student will forfeit the degree.

Definition of Good Standing
An MFA student will maintain good standing by achieving a minimum grade of “B+” in all courses that are assigned a letter grade, achieving the grade “Pass” in Studio work, and by obtaining a favourable review on the First-Year Review and any other Reviews conducted by the student’s Thesis Committee.

If an MFA student’s performance is in question, formal notification may be made by the Thesis Committee, the Program Advisor, the Studio Advisor, or the Director of the MFA Program to the VP Academic and Research, who will determine a course of action that may include any of the following:

• a specific sequence of study to remedy the problem;
• withdrawal of Teaching or Research Assistantship and/or scholarship award;
• academic probation; or suspension.

Appeals are to be handled under the NSCAD Grade Appeal Policy as noted on the website.
Faculty Positions Defined

An MFA student may work with any Full-time or approved Regular Part-time, Sessional or Prorated faculty member in Graduate Studio and Independent Research courses. The student should be aware of distinctions in faculty contracts within the University and the workload they are contracted to undertake.

Full-time and Prorated Faculty have an ongoing relationship with the University which involves not only teaching the courses which are assigned to them, but professional research, publishing and exhibiting, committee and advisory work. Their contracts stipulate two semesters of teaching and one semester of research. Generally, this means teaching in the fall and winter semesters and research in the summer. Most full-time faculty will be unavailable in any official capacity during the summer semester.

Limited-Term Sessional Appointment Faculty teach a full-time course load on a temporary contract, usually for one or two semesters. They keep office hours, participate in the business of their Division, do research and committee work and may supervise graduate students.

Regular Part-Time Faculty (RPTs) are contracted to teach a specific course or courses on a semester contract. They are not required to be in the University except during their scheduled class times and up to two office hours per week.

Individual Course Appointees (ICAs) are contracted to teach a specific course or courses on a semester contract. They have not yet qualified for or applied for status as Regular Part-Time Faculty and are normally ineligible to teach or supervise in Graduate Programs.

Adjunct Faculty are professionally distinguished individuals who work outside the University who have been approved to teach or to supervise undergraduate or graduate students. The approval process is the same as for External Members of the Thesis Committee, p 16.

Summer Study

MFA courses are not offered in the summer semester, though MFA students continue to have full access to their studios and to facilities of the university. MFA students may take optional courses over the two 7-week summer sessions. Summer tuition fees apply.

NOTE: Some summer faculty are visiting ICAs. Regular faculty and the Director of the MFA Program may be away from the University for periods during the summer.

Exchange Programs

In the past, the NSCAD MFA Program has offered exchange opportunities with several other universities during our non-teaching semester (i.e. summer): The University of Newcastle, and The University of Sydney, in Australia; The University of Canterbury in New Zealand; The Royal College of Art in London; The European Graduate School in Switzerland; Kyoto City University of Arts. Details and updates may be obtained by contacting the Joann Farmer jfarmer@nscad.ca in the Office of Student and Academic Services, and MFAs are free to research new exchange possibilities.

MFA Group Exhibition

The MFA students organize an annual group exhibition of their work at the Anna Leonowens Gallery, usually opening in mid-November. The Anna Leonowens Gallery Director will contact the group in the first weeks of the fall semester to initiate the exhibition plans.

For coordination of the group exhibition, the MFAs select a contact person (or two) to work with the Anna Leonowens Gallery staff. All MFAs share tasks related to the exhibition.

Visitors’ Program

Visiting artists and lecturers are selected by the MFA group in consultation with the Director, often in coordination with invitation made by other academic divisions.

MFA students often assist the Director of the MFA Program in organizing visits and welcoming visitors.
MFA Student Representation on NSCAD University Committees

Graduate students are encouraged to contribute to the NSCAD University community by participating on University committees. MFA students elect representatives to represent them on the following committees:

Archives and Collections (one graduate student): New Exhibitions Committee (one MFA student): This committee meets to determine exhibition programming and policy for the Anna Leonowens Gallery.

Library Committee (one graduate student): This committee oversees, evaluates and recommends library services and practices in support of academic programs.

MFA Committee (one first-year and one second-year MFA student): The MFA Committee meets regularly to discuss matters of program curriculum and policy.

Scholarship and Awards Committee (one graduate student): This committee meets each semester, plus two full days in May, to review scholarship and bursary applications. It also implements new awards and reviews scholarship budgets.

SUNSCAD (one graduate student): The Student Union of NSCAD

Travel Subsidy Review Committee (one graduate student): This committee meets to review applications for financial aid (including travel grants, emergency loans, materials grants), and policy pertaining to student affairs.

External Representation: One MFA student per year is elected by the MFAs to serve on the Board of Eyelevel Gallery.

Medical and Counseling Services

The Student Health Plan entitles both Canadian and international students to medical services in Nova Scotia. Information concerning medical and counseling services is available from the Office of Student and Academic Services. Upon registration, all students are automatically enrolled in the Health Insurance plan. See OSAS if you wish to opt out of the plan.

Access Policy

Excepting certain holiday periods, students have access to their studio spaces on a 24-hour basis. Security guards patrol the Fountain Campus at regular intervals from 5 PM to 8 AM. The library and technical facilities of the University post normal hours of operation. After-hours access to the Photography Department and Multimedia may be arranged if either facility supports significant focus of an MFA student’s research. For reasons of safety and security, there is no after-hours access to the Woodshop, the Metalshop, Foundry and some other areas of the University.

Studio and Office Space

Space is allocated to MFA students according to need by the Director of the MFA Program in consultation with the Division Chairs. MFA students may be allocated studio space in the North Block, the Academy Building, or at the Port Campus, or a workspace in a specialized area of the University (Jewellery, Textiles, etc.). Studio spaces are for the exclusive use of the MFA students assigned to them. Keys are not to be shared with others. Students are responsible for keeping the studio space in reasonable condition and for reporting any damage or thefts to the Director of Facilities Management.

Graduating students must vacate their studio spaces by mid-August and take all personal belongings. Any items to be discarded must be marked as “GARBAGE”. Any “special handling” items for disposal should be so marked and Facilities Management or the Administrative Assistant should be notified.
MFA students have access to their studios and to the facilities of the University during the summer semesters. Some facilities are closed between semesters and during technical staff holidays in the summer.

MFA students are advised that NSCAD University cannot accept any responsibility for students’ property left on the premises, or for University property that the student has damaged or improperly used. Students may be required to replace University property that is lost, stolen or damaged while signed out. Students should lock up all valuables and equipment when leaving an area.

Furniture Needs

Please direct needs to the MFA Director. DO NOT use or move furniture items from classrooms and studio teaching areas.

Keys/Swipe Cards

Keys for studio areas may be picked up from the Service Centre. There is a refundable deposit of $25 and proper ID must be shown. The Service Centre requires a memo from the Graduate Studies Office regarding assigned studio spaces before keys are distributed.

Swipe cards (deposit required) are for general access at all three campuses. You have continuous access; the swipe cards are programmed to expire in mid-August of your graduating year.

If you have any difficulties with your keys or access card, see Sonya Diamond in the Service Centre.

Phones

All local calls are 10-digit, so 902 494-5555.

Use the prefix (494, 442, etc.) for any calls made from outside the university.

Internal and local calls can be made from any extension in the University. Enter the 4-digit extension number, or dial “8177” to reach NSCAD University information. When calling between campuses, you will need to dial 9 + the ten-digit number.

Local calls: Enter “9”, then the ten-digit number. When calling the University from outside, each extension may be reached directly by using the full ten-digit number. 494, 442 or 444 normally preface NSCAD extensions.

Photocopying

There is a budget for photocopying materials connected with MFA Program business (memos, announcements, materials for Graduate Forum and committee work). Photocopying costs for materials used in TAships are the responsibility of the Division in which the course is offered. The Learning Commons copier or the Service Centre copier should be used. See the appropriate Division Chair (p. 29) or staff in the Service Centre. Photocopies for personal and research use may be made in the Service Centre and the Design Print Shop in the North Building.

Printing

Free black and white printing is available in Port 218 computer cluster, on the ground floor at the Academy Building, and in the Learning Commons and Multimedia (N320a) at the Fountain Campus.

Note: The costs of copying and binding Thesis Statements for the archive are the responsibility of the MFA student.

Mailboxes

MFA student mailboxes are located in the Service Centre. If you have a package sent to you at NSCAD, it will be delivered here. Check your mailbox regularly.
Internet, Computer Access, and Student E-Mail

Multimedia Help Website: http://multimedia.nscad.ns.ca/

Wi-Fi access is available throughout the three campuses. Connect notebook computers to NSCADM, as it allows access to all NSCAD servers and services. Currently NSCADG and NSCADG2 allow identical but reduced access, and are meant for smart phones, tablets and other mobile devices. NSCAD G2 will replace NSCADG, which will be phased out in December 2017.

There is 24-hour access to computers at Academy and Fountain campuses, and six computers in P218, the South Cluster at the Port campus. At the Port, your access card lets you into P218. If it is locked, the security guard at the front desk can let you in. There is no booking procedure for P218; access is first come, first served.

All NSCAD University students have email accounts set up for their use when enrolled. You should check your NSCAD email frequently as it is the official means of communication for all NSCAD business.

Faxes

A fax machine for student use is available in the Service Centre. The number is 902 425 2420. Incoming faxes should have an Attention line with the student's name clearly marked.

NSCAD News

NSCAD Notes is sent to all NSCAD email accounts at least once a week, listing upcoming events, visitors, and other local news. NSCAD Notes is also posted on the NSCAD website.

To post an event in NSCAD Notes, contact Marilyn Smulders: msmulders@nscad.ca.

Electrical Appliances

The MFA students are responsible for ensuring that any microwaves and refrigerators designated for graduate students and located in N500, in studios at the Academy Building, in MFA studios at the Port Campus or any other MFA studio area are kept clean and in good working order. Any problems may be brought to the attention of the Director of the MFA Program.
Quick Glossary

Director of the MFA Program
The Director oversees the MFA Program and is Chair of the MFA Committee, which sets policy and curriculum for the Program. The Director also leads the Graduate Forum, in addition to teaching other courses. The Director advises MFA students and faculty and is available to assist with any concerns.

MFA Committee
Not to be confused with your Thesis Committee, the MFA Committee is a policy-recommending sub-committee of the Academic Senate, the academic governing body of the university. It is composed of eight members: faculty reps from each Division, the VP Academic, and two MFA students. It meets on a monthly basis to review and advise on matters of MFA policy and curriculum.

Studio Advisor
An MFA student works with a Studio Advisor each semester in the course Graduate Studio to discuss and develop work. MFA students usually meet with their studio advisors each week.

Program Advisor
The Program Advisor, chosen in the first semester, chairs all review meetings of the student’s Thesis Committee, helps the student plan for reviews, reads through drafts of the Thesis Statement and oversees changes to the final draft, as recommended by the Thesis Committee.

Course Supervisor
The faculty member who supervises an MFA student teaching an undergraduate course in Fine Arts, Media Arts or Craft. The Course Supervisor meets regularly with the MFA student to discuss the progress of the course, attends at least two scheduled classes and evaluates the student and course at the end of the semester.

Thesis Committee
Assembling for your Reviews, this committee normally consists of: your Program Advisor (Chair) and two full-time and/or RPT faculty members. One External Member may be added.

First-Year Review
At the end of the second semester in the Program, MFA students present their work, progress statement and early Thesis draft to their Thesis Committee. Committee members discuss the student’s progress and provide feedback and suggestions. Successful completion of the First-Year Review is a requirement to advance to candidacy for the degree. If the Committee does not approve advancement, they may recommend probation or schedule a second review.

Thesis Review
The MFA student’s Thesis Exhibition, the Thesis or Thesis Statement and the oral presentation before the Thesis Committee are all considered in the final Thesis Review. It normally takes place late in the winter semester of the second year, during the period of the Thesis Exhibition.

TA/RA Supervisor
This is a Faculty member course instructor who supervises a graduate Teaching Assistant, or a Faculty member who supervises a graduate research assistant.
NSCAD University

Policy on Teaching Assistants and Research Assistants

1. Graduate Teaching Assistants will work with faculty as assigned to assist in the delivery of courses, especially courses with large enrolments.

2. Teaching Assistants (TAs) and Research Assistants (RAs) work an average of not more than ten hours per week during the semester. If the graduate student feels that the duties associated with a particular assignment average more than ten hours per week, the graduate student should consult the Director of the MFA Program. The MFA Committee works to ensure that the MFA students have equitable workloads.

3. Teaching Assistants may assist with tutorials, demonstrations, marking assignments, critiques, or presentations. TAs are not responsible for course design, overall delivery, or final evaluation of students. Graduate students approved to teach an advanced course in their second year (ARTS 3130 Studio Workshop or CRFT 3150 Craft Studio) will work closely with the faculty course advisor in designing and delivering the course.

4. MFA students who are asked to substitute-teach for a course instructor should notify the Director of the MFA Program. Instructors who are unavailable to teach their class(es) should not employ MFA Teaching Assistants as substitute instructors. They may decide instead to reschedule or cancel the class, or they may discuss alternate arrangements with the Vice President of Academic Affairs and Research.

5. Research Assistants assist in the research agendas developed by faculty and may not be given other tasks specific to the delivery of courses.

6. Faculty with Teaching Assistants may have to train them for some tasks required for the course. The faculty member has the responsibility to ensure that the TA is adequately prepared for the work assigned. Where a faculty member finds a TA unable to manage the work assigned, the faculty member will advise the Director of the MFA Program. The Director may meet with the faculty member and the TA to discuss the matter and to try to resolve the problem.

7. Teaching Assistants and Research Assistants shall be treated with the respect due all employees and all students. Direct any questions about NSCAD University policy with regard to graduate Teaching Assistants and Research Assistants to the Director of the MFA Program.
Graduate Independent Research Projects: AHIS 6700, CULT 6110, FHIS 6200

MFA students may fulfill their elective Liberal Arts and Sciences requirement with a Graduate Independent Research project. The project may be designed on one's own initiative with a Research Supervisor, or may be developed in relation to material in an undergraduate class at the 3000-4000 level, in which case the course instructor acts as their Research Supervisor.

The student will complete with the Research Supervisor the Application for Graduate Independent Research (form on p. 33), in which the research project and the evaluation criteria and method for graduate credit (B+ or better) are to be clearly described. The role of any undergraduate course that is required to support the research must be indicated. Note: At OSE, registration is recorded as AHIS 6700, CULT 6110, or FHIS 6200. While the relevant undergraduate class capacity will be adjusted down, the MFA student's name will not appear on the class roster.
